

MARINES INVADE TWO ST. MATTHIAS ISLANDS

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

GERMANY'S seizure of Hungary—a move which is partly military and partly political—is smart tactics, although it's a typical Hitlerian act of brutal ruthlessness against a country which has served the Axis well.

It is a logical step in the Nazi dictator's preparations for the final defense of his inner fortress, towards which he is being steadily driven.

On it's political side it's calculated to terrorize the Balkans and unhappy little Finland into sticking to the sinking ship. It ought to have the opposite effect, if horse-sense prevailed among the satellites, since it's fresh proof that the Fuehrer will sacrifice them to the last man. However, fear rather than reason has been ruling them. Their future attitude will depend heavily on Russia's further progress into the Balkan peninsula.

From the military standpoint Hitler aiming at two prime objectives: (1) He is establishing a barrier across the great Danubian gateway into his inner fortress, and (2) He is providing himself with a base from which to defend the Balkans against the onrushing Red armies and to keep his Allies in line.

One highly important aspect of the situation is, of course, the vital necessity of protecting Rumania's Ploesti oil fields. This represents Hitler's sole source of natural oil, the rest being laboriously made synthetically. His oil barrel is dangerously low, and without lubrication neither his war industries nor his military machine can continue to run.

Another point is that he must provide refuge for the host of soldiers in his shattered army on the Russian southern front. Some of these are now fleeing into Bessarabia in an effort to reach Rumania; others are struggling in the Red traps, and still further forces are cooped up on the Crimea and will have to be transported by air or by sea to Rumanian ports.

HUNGARY is the logical focal point for Hitler's operations in southeastern Europe. Not only are there prime rail connections with Germany and with the Balkans, but the great Danube river forms one of the most important communications on the continent. Small craft can travel it from the Black sea clear into the Reich and there cross by canal into the Rhine which will take them to the North sea.

This Danubian route becomes doubly important to Hitler now that he has lost the rich agricultural

4TH U. S. SUB IS LONG OVERDUE

Scorpion Presumed Lost In Pacific, Bringing War's Total to 23

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 22—Loss of the American submarine Scorpion, the fourth submersible listed overdue and presumed lost in eight days, was announced by the Navy today.

The loss brings to 23 the number of American submarines sunk since the war started, all but three of them by enemy action, presumably while on war patrols in Japanese controlled waters.

The Scorpion carried a crew of approximately 75 officers and men, all listed as missing in action. Her commanding officer was Commander Maximilian G. Schmidt, a native of Bonville, Mo., whose wife, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Schmidt, now lives in Annapolis, Md.

Loss of the 1,525 ton submersible followed the disappearance of the Capelin and Sculpin, listed as overdue and presumed lost, last Saturday and the Corvina, listed as overdue and lost on March 14.

The new sinking brings to 147 the number of American naval vessels lost since the war started. Compared with that figure, American submarines alone have sunk, probably sunk or damaged 642 Japanese ships of all types including some warships. Sinkings or damaging of Japanese craft by all types of American action totaled 2,024.

The Scorpion was built at Portsmouth, N. H., and was launched July 20, 1942.

Former Salem Woman's Husband Hurt In Italy

Mrs. Vesta Mohr Baker of East Liverpool, formerly of Salem, received word yesterday from her husband, Pfc. Ross Baker, that he has been awarded the Purple Heart medal for wounds received in action in Italy.

The son of Mrs. Bertha Baker of Fredericktown rd., East Liverpool, the soldier has been serving with the medical division of the tank destroyers. His letter yesterday informed his wife that he had suffered minor shrapnel wounds two months ago and was entirely recovered.

A graduate of East Liverpool High school and a former National Drawn Steel Co. worker, he was inducted July 2, 1942, and has been overseas 14 months.

Tail Gunner Killed

EAST LIVERPOOL, March 22—The War department yesterday informed Frank Kiner that his son, Sgt. William F. Kiner, 23, a tail gunner on a bomber, was killed in action Jan. 29 during a raid over Europe.

Sgt. Kiner, was a steel worker before he enlisted in the Army air force Oct. 27, 1942. He previously was reported missing.

JAPS ADVANCE INTO INDIA IN NEW OFFENSIVE

Enemy Reported to Have Crossed Border From Northern Burma

(By Associated Press)
NEW DELHI, March 22—Japanese troops striking out in a major offensive have penetrated into India, it was officially announced today, crossing into the Indian state of Manipur "at one or two places" from northern Burma.

The Japanese forces, described as "raiding columns," crossed the Chindwin river apparently at night and advanced practically unmolested with the jungle cloaking their operations.

"At some points" the Japanese "are in contact with our advanced patrols," said the Southeast Asia command communique.

On the North Burma front, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters said, the Chinese 22nd division continued its drive southward, and forward elements are "fighting along the road south of the highest point on the pass over Jambu Bum."

In the Chin hills area, 100 or more miles below the Manipur border action, some Allied troops have moved north to "deal with Japanese outflanking movements north of Tiddim," and staged a small-scale attack near Falam, below Tiddim, Monday.

Bomb Jap Positions
Allied air fleets struck at Japanese positions and communications in the Chindwin, Chin hills, Arkan and Kaladan areas, and heavy bombers attacked Proma, Martaban and Moulmein in Central and Southern Burma, all without loss.

At the same time, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters declared Allied troops had repulsed a comparatively heavy Japanese attack in the Maungdaw-Butthadaung area at the southern end of the Burmese front, where British and Indian forces have been moving slowly down along the coast toward enemy-held Akyab.

This was the first Allied acknowledgement of Japanese penetration of India. The Berlin radio in May, 1942, had reported Japanese crossings of the frontier, quoting Tokyo dispatches, but such claims never were heard directly from Japanese sources.

The Tokyo radio today declared that leaders of the Indian independence league were jubilant "over news of the Indian national army march into Indian soil."

Plans for the expansion of the program for the league will be made in keeping with additional funds realized from the 1943 seal sale. Returns to date amount to $15,575, which is $575 over the goal set by the league. Finance and budget reports will be presented.

Preceding the meeting members of the Advisory committee, the seal sale township chairmen and the Board of trustees of the league will meet. During this session the tuberculosis testing program now being conducted through the schools in the county will be discussed.

Necessity Of 48-Hour Work Week Is Explained By WMC

A 48-hour minimum work week for Salem, which will be put into effect May 1, is necessary to aid in alleviating labor shortages which are impeding the war effort, Robert C. Goodwin regional director of the WMC explained today.

The area includes Perry, Butler, Hanover, Knox, Salem, West, Center, Fairfield, and Unity townships of Columbiana county and Green and Goshen townships of Mahoning county.

Goodwin took action to extend the employment period after conferring with E. L. Keenan, WMC director for Ohio, and Joseph E. Smith, director of WMC operations in the area.

Each employer of eight or more persons in the area shall, not later than May 1, extend to a minimum wartime work week of 48 hours the employment of those of his workers whose workweek can be so extended without involving the release of any other worker.

Hull's Foreign Policy Plan Reflects U.S. Postwar Aims

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 22 — A 17-point foreign policy statement by Secretary of State Hull today gave the United States a bid for postwar political leadership and brought into sharper relief a half dozen questions of immediate diplomatic concern.

Hull's statement was viewed here as setting goals for long range international cooperation and security on a basis of sovereign equality of all countries, large or small.

The immediate questions for which his program furnishes a background are outside the scope of his statement, which is based on Hull's speeches over the past two years. But they may be decided in the light of the principles he laid down. They are:

What kind of relationship is this government ready to extend to the French National Committee or possibly other patriotic groups? Should the United States break relations with Finland over rejection of Russia's peace terms? If Russia decides against dealing with the Polish government in London, will the United States recognize a new Polish government?

Some Points Current
What measures is the United States maintaining its present policy of withholding recognition from Argentina without implementing its dislike of the present regime through economic measures? Will the United States in collaboration with Britain further

NAZIS EXPAND BALKAN HOLDS

Germans Reported Moving In On Bulgaria and Rumania Today

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, March 22—German troops, already in control in Hungary, were reported moving today to extend full military occupation to Bulgaria and Rumania and the Turkish radio expressed the view Hitler soon would place all three countries under one command "to intensify the German war effort in southeast Europe."

Advices from neutral capitals indicated the Nazi divisions were seizing strategic military and civil administration centers.

The Bulgarian cabinet was said by the Ankara radio to have met in prolonged session yesterday to discuss German demands for active help in the Nazi war against Russia, Bulgaria, at war with Britain and the United States, never has interrupted relations with Russia, long her friend and champion.

Seeks Soviet Armistice

London morning newspapers published Ankara dispatches saying it was reported there Premier Ion Antonescu of Rumania was planning to seek an armistice with Russia. Rumania was believed ready to renounce all claim to Bessarabia as one of the armistice conditions, these dispatches said.

Reports about the situation in Hungary agreed on one point only—that 100,000 German troops now completely dominate the country with full control of all railway and communications. There were indications the Nazis were attempting to set up a Quisling regime in Budapest.

Berlin itself remained silent about what is proposed in the Balkans, although a foreign office spokesman indirectly intimated military occupation of the entire area might be proposed.

As in the case of Hungary, swiftly occupied in a 36-hour coup early in the week, information about the situation in Rumania and Bulgaria was confused.

Robert Ballantine Wounded In Italy

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballantine of 1439 E. Third st., have learned that their son, Pvt. Robert Ballantine, has been wounded and is in a military hospital in Italy.

In a letter which the young soldier wrote his parents a few days ago he explained that he was in a hospital after having been injured and a second letter yesterday indicated that he was to be moved to another hospital and would forward a new address.

Details of his injuries and action in which he was wounded were not given. No word has been received from the War department, his parents said.

Pvt. Ballantine, who has two brothers in the service, went overseas last September to North Africa and two months later was in Italy, where he has been serving with Co. F, 30th Infantry.

On the day they received word of their son's injuries, Mr. and Mrs. Ballantine were notified by Lieut. Jack Ballantine, former Salem News sports editor, of his safe arrival overseas.

A third son, Aviation Student James B. Ballantine, was recently transferred from Sheppard field, Tex., to Lowry field, Colo., for further training.

SPELLS DOOM FOR JAPS IN TRUK REGION

50,000 of Enemy Believed Still Fighting In Bismarck Sector

(By Associated Press)
Japan's forces have taken another setback in the Southwest Pacific, where Allied invasion of the St. Matthias islands seals the trap on more than 50,000 enemy, but have scored a limited success in the Burma fighting by driving across the Indian border.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur communicated today that the speedy occupation of Emirau and Elomusao islands 84 miles northwest of Kavieng, New Ireland, closes the noose around more than 50,000 Nipponese soldiers still fighting in the Bismarck archipelago.

"This places us within bombing range of Truk," he said. Emirau island, flat and a potential air base, lies 580 miles south of the mighty Japanese naval supply and air fortress in the Carolines.

Ally forces already hold one airfield in Eniwetok atoll in the Marshall Islands from which Truk bombers can be based. Eniwetok is 750 miles from Truk.

Bloodless Occupation
In the St. Matthias group, both invaded islands are reportedly undeveloped. Emirau has two harbors. Air observers reported no enemy installations could be seen and the landings were completed without casualty.

Kavieng, major enemy stronghold in New Ireland, was virtually blown into oblivion while the St. Matthias invasion was on. Mighty U. S. battleships stood offshore for three and one-half hours and pumped 1,000 tons of shells into the one-mighty base.

When it was over, there wasn't much left. "Whole sections of the town were completely destroyed," MacArthur communique said. A day and night bombing set up the battlewagons bombardment.

Other targets for Allied planes included Rabaul, New Britain, and enemy shipping along the New Guinea coast. After nine straight days of heavy attacks, Allied airmen passed over Wewak, New Guinea, to hit Aitape airbase 90 miles northwest with 152 tons of bombs and wreck parked planes.

Premier Tojo didn't come up with anything startling when he told the Japanese diet, according to the Berlin radio, that Japan's war situation had become grave in the past few months and the battles ahead will decide the empire's fate.

GASOLINE DEALERS SUSPENDED BY OPA

YOUNGSTOWN, March 22—Five more gasoline dealers in the Youngstown district have been ordered to suspend gas business for various periods following hearings before Franklin E. Stearns, Office of Price Administration commissioner, on charges of violating ration regulations. Charges against one dealer were dismissed.

Fred Jenny of Hubbard is to suspend sales three months for having 197 counterfeit coupons out of 404 Christian Herman, 99 out of 112 coupons, rest of year; George Berend, 299 out of 556, rest of year but can sell on probation after six months; Michael Shabell, 265 out of 325, four months; and Vincent Chianese 202 out of 520 coupons, two months, but can sell after 30 days.

William Martin was freed on charges because OPA investigators failed to establish he was owner of the place when counterfeit coupons were accepted.

Athens Soldier Awarded French Croix de Guerre

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, March 22—The Croix de Guerre was pinned today on Capt. Richard W. Eddy of Athens, O., a member of a chemical mortar battalion attached to the French. He was given the award by Gen. Alphonse Juin, commander of the French forces in the Fifth army.

Wednesday, March 22, 1944

BACK TO THE BEGINNING

The army and navy and the postoffice department, not being in the business of taking sides in politics, are not being heard from in the service vote issue, though they are vitally concerned. Their personnel must figure out how to get the ballots to and from the service voters. Neither President Roosevelt, nor congress, nor state officials, nor the candidates concerned can do more than get the process under way.

Virtually everything done up to this time has been wasted effort, as far as the actual mechanics of transmission are concerned. As Gov. Bricker has pointed out in behalf of Ohio, for this state now to legalize what congress has done under a mistaken application of its authority would be only to add more confusion. Ohio, therefore, will take whatever steps may be necessary to make certain that proper ballots are distributed to service voters, without regard to what congress has done or to the political confusion created by President Roosevelt's attempt to set himself up before military voters as the ordained protector of a right he neither can bestow nor take away.

Meanwhile, the real problem—delivering the ballots—is being worked out by the men who ultimately will take up where legislators and other public officials leave off. Whatever success attends the polling of the service vote in 1944 will be due largely to their ability and their efforts.

ROYAL MARRIAGE

If it were not for factional disputes in Yugoslavia, with his throne tottering, a German army occupying most of his country and all of Greece, and the newly revealed importance of the whole Balkan area as Russia's winter offensive finally broke through into Bessarabia, the marriage of young King Peter to Princess Alexandra of Greece could be enjoyed in the royal marriage tradition. The princess is charming. The marriage took place in the presence of the crowned heads of Great Britain, Greece, Norway and the Netherlands.

But, unfortunately, the crowned heads, with the exception of that of King George VI of Britain, are uneasy. While the young members of royalty being united had been engaged as far back as 1942, there is a strong suspicion that their marriage may be something more than the consummation of an order plan for bringing together personable young members of European royalty. King Peter is struggling desperately for his throne. He may have come to London only for the wedding, but it is not easy to believe there is not some politics involved, too.

Whatever congratulations are in order must be tempered with awareness that momentous things have happened and are about to happen in southeastern Europe. May the young king and queen be happy, but even more than most young couples who marry in wartime, they will have their little problems.

THE FORCE OF PUBLIC OPINION

There seems nothing further to argue about in the case of income tax simplification. Apparently, congress and the treasury department are in complete agreement on the means of eliminating the devious formula in use through March 15, and next year the public will be furnished blanks that the least experienced citizen can comprehend and fill out by himself.

The alacrity with which this decision was reached after distribution of the tax forms began last January is a tribute to the force of public opinion. The revolt against income tax complexity began more than a year ago with agitation for the Ruml plan. It was defied by congress and the treasury department, which rejected that reform in every respect, except the prepayment principle. The result was this year's income tax form, an all-time record-breaker for ways that "were dark and mysterious."

But the result promptly boomeranged. In one of the finest recent examples of public opinion at work, it was criticized, ridiculed, discussed and lampooned to a point where something had to be done about it. In at least one instance, a congressional by-election in New York, it was made a campaign issue. While congress squirmed and shifted blame to the treasury and the treasury squirmed and shifted blame to congress, both began to take a lively interest in getting themselves off the hot spot of outraged public opinion.

Apparently, it is all over now but the satisfaction of knowing that public opinion in the United States still is a potent weapon.

MINORITY REPORT TO FINLAND

President Roosevelt's urging of Finland, in the name of all Americans, to end its military association with Germany and make the most of a settlement with Russia does not convey everything that is in the minds of the American people. If this official plea to Finns were to be comprehensive, it would include, also, some acknowledgment of their plight.

After World War I and again in this war the Finns were driven into Germany's military grasp by the necessity of choosing between two evils; they feared Germany less than they feared Russia. Perhaps they were wrong. Americans did not think they were wrong when they resisted Russia in 1939, at a time when that country was allied with Germany, however, and it is impossible to believe the Finns can be judged wrong in 1944 if they still distrust the Russians, despite the great changes in military alliances since the war began. They have had no reason in their history to love the Russians.

The Finns as a sovereign people are in a hopeless dilemma as far as regaining their sovereignty is concerned, unless it can be demonstrated that the guarantee of freedom of determination in the Atlantic Charter means exactly what it says. The question raised by their present plight is not merely of their fate, but of the good faith of the United Nations as they move out of the realm of principle into the realm of fact. They stand committed to ideals which will stand or fall on Russia's acceptance or rejection of the charter.

Finns are being asked to accept on faith something which has not yet been proved in practice. Perhaps if they did drop out of the war and abandoned themselves to the guarantees of the Atlantic Charter, they would have no cause to regret it—but they hardly can be blamed for wondering what might happen if it turned out otherwise. For the last decade, nations which accepted things on faith have had nothing to show for it but their own disillusionment.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, March 23

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects of important planets, this may prove to be a day of postponements, delays, frustration and defeat, at least temporarily. While the situation seems gray, with obstacles tenacious and circumstances tricky yet a serious, studious and determined state of mind might be able to rationalize or visualize a safe and sound way out. Perhaps merely taking the initiative in postponing decisions or actions, and keeping alert to duplicity, fraud and intrigue may be the way. Refrain from emotional or impulsive moves, and maintain firm and logical conclusions. Avert reactions on health and all explosive behavior.

Birthday Indicators

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which there may be tenacious obstacles, delays and defeats to confront with patience, fortitude and determination to overcome all manner of difficulties and trials with logic reason and good sense. The mentality will be found pitched to much shrewd, sagacious and deep-seated insight into the thwarting obstructions. It might be policy to "agree with thine adversary quickly" to postpone major moves with grace, but keep vigilant as to all snares, delusions and suspicious involvements. Act with mind, not emotions or impetuous outbursts. Let there be unhappy and futile reactions upon physical or professional well-being.

A child born on this day will be gifted with asound and studious intellect, with versatility and insight; traits and skills needed to contend with treacherous circumstances or not too strong physical health.

The time for industry to act is now. More than 1,000,000 men have returned since Pearl Harbor, and they are returning now at the rate of 100,000 per month. If we set up machinery now for those returning from the armed services it will be well under way when demobilization accelerates.—Carl A. Gray, chairman Connecticut reemployment commission.

Reflect that life, like every other blessing, derives its value from its use alone.—Samuel Johnson (1749).

Diet Requirements of Expectant Mothers

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

"THE EXPECTANT mother must eat enough for two," was about all the wisdom our mothers and grandmothers had on the subject. And it was pretty bad. It emphasized quantity and the modern attitude is that the quality—the ingredients, such as calcium, iron and vitamins—of the mother's diet are the important thing for the health of both child and mother. Even the idea of quantity was wrong. Too many mothers took it literally and considered that they must eat enough for two people of the same weight as the mother herself with the result that they would emerge from pregnancy well started on the road to middle aged obesity.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Let us examine, however, first the scientific evidence of the extra amount the mother should eat. The baby at birth weighs about seven pounds; there is an increase of two pounds in the weight of the womb; and the after-birth membranes and fluid weigh about three and a half pounds—a total weight gain of twelve and a half pounds. And this is distributed over nine months. So eating for two isn't exactly accurate. If the mother is of normal weight at the beginning she needs a definite increase in calorie intake at the beginning of the fifth month. If she is underweight at the beginning she should try to gain up to normal weight.

Amount of Protein Needed

Of the various food elements, the old idea that the protein should be restricted because it predisposed to some of the toxic conditions associated with pregnancy has been given up. The expectant mother should eat a good amount, probably a little extra amount over what she usually chooses of protein, picking out particularly the protein foods of the highest biologic quality, such as those of the flesh of fish and poultry, milk and milk products, and a liberal serving of meat. Glandular tissues, such as liver, sweetbreads and kidney, are highly nutritious as regards the character of their protein, minerals and vitamin content.

Need of Calcium

There is additional need of calcium for the baby beginning at the third month and the heaviest demand is during the last two months before delivery. Development of rickets in the baby is prevented by extra supply of calcium

Three minerals—calcium, phosphorus and iron—need special emphasis. Both for the sake of the mother's teeth and the baby's teeth calcium intake should be high. Another old adage—"for every child a tooth"—is quite false. Pregnancy does make a demand on the mother's teeth, but only if not enough calcium is supplied in her diet. The baby's teeth as well as the bones need plenty of calcium for normal development.

Let us examine, however, first the scientific evidence of the extra amount the mother should eat. THE RED CARNATION by BURTON STEVENSON

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Lily smiled. She was looking like her old self again.

"I'm going to tell him it was all a mistake," she said. "I'm going to tell him that I got to thinking things over on the train and realized what a fool I had been. For I'd never really cared for anybody but him, and I want him to let me start over again and prove it. Don't laugh—I've learned something I'll never forget. I'll be good after this."

Tony looked at her curiously. "Well, perhaps you will," he said. "Good luck."

"Thank you, Tony. You helped me a lot."

"All right. Run along. I'm going to call Duffy."

Which he did, then slipped into a topcoat and started up the Avenue.

The night doorman at the Century Park West apartment house was enjoying the publicity and excitement which McKibben's murder had given him, and was quite ready to talk when Tony reached there a little before eight o'clock that evening. But the good McKibben could tell him little that he did not already know.

McKibben had driven up in a taxi about one-thirty, and McKibben had helped him out and then the young lady he had seen earlier in the evening.

"She looked like a little angel," said McKibben, "and it made me heart ache to see her with a look of McKibben, but now what could I do?"

McKibben had seemed so right enough. He had picked out the right taxi for the taxi driver from a handful of silver, had nodded to McKibben, and then had taken hold of the girl's arm and led her up the steps and into the house. That was the last McKibben had seen of either of them. He had gone off duty at two o'clock, and it would have been quite possible for the girl to walk down the five flights of stairs from McKibben's apartment and get away without being seen, especially if she waited until the single elevator which was running at that time of night had started up.

He remembered nothing unusual about any of the people who had come in after midnight. So far as he knew, nobody had asked for McKibben.

"There was a young fellow asking for him just after I came on duty at nine," said the elevator operator who had been listening to McKibben. "He got in my car and told me to take him up to McKibben's apartment, so I run him up to the sixth. He asked what apartment it was, and I told him six-ten. He rung for me in a few minutes, and when I brought him down, he said McKibben wasn't there, and did I know where he could find him. I told him his best bet was to make a round of the night joints."

"What was he like?" Tony asked.

"A good-looking young sport, kind of soft spoken. Dark skin, kind of hair. Looked like he might be a college boy."

"It was about eight-thirty when McKibben went out," put in the doorman. "That same dame met him that came back with him—met him right here in the lobby. I tell you, you can't tell nothing about girls these days."

"That's right," Tony agreed.

"How late were you on duty?" he added to the elevator boy.

"Till five."

"And nothing unusual happened?"

"Not a thing. Everything quiet."

"All right, thanks," said Tony. "Take me up to the sixth, please."

There was a different policeman on duty before McKibben's door, but he knew Tony.

"Anybody been asking to get in?" the columnist inquired.

"Not a soul. That colored boy that used to work here has been around a couple of times. There's some things of his in there he wants to get."

"If he comes back while I'm here, let me know. I want to talk with him."

"I'll tell him," said the policeman, and unlocked the door.

Tony stepped through into the entry, closed the door behind him, and snapped on all the lights, and proceeded to make a general survey of the apartment.

The outside door opened into an entry, from which a corridor ran straight ahead, passing McKibben's bedroom, then a bathroom, then a second bedroom, then the dining room, and finally merged into a large living room which opened on a terrace about fifteen feet wide.

Tony traversed the corridor, crossed the living room, stepped out upon the terrace, and looked around. It was one of the set-backs which extended at regular intervals to the top of the building, and was guarded at its outer edge by a stone balustrade about four feet high, against which had been set four or five bay trees in tubs. Four windows looked down upon it from the seventh story. At this moment, all of them were dark, and as Tony looked at them he said how easy it would be to swing down to the terrace from any of them. Perhaps it was by this route that McKibben's murderer had gained access to the apartment from the living room four long French windows opened upon the terrace, and while all of them were equipped with safety latches, as he found upon examination, he doubted if they were kept locked.

The columnist walked slowly back through the flat, but could see nothing unusual or out of order in any of the rooms. At last he was in the bedroom and sat down for a careful look around.

McKibben's hat and coat were still on the chair where he had thrown them eighteen hours before, and Tony tried to reconstruct the tragedy which had so quickly followed.

The murderer, either by the terrace or by the door, had gained access to the flat, and was in waiting. He had taken McKibben's automatic from the drawer there beside the bed. . . .

But no — he couldn't have done it was, and I told him six-ten. He rung for me in a few minutes, and when I brought him down, he said McKibben wasn't there, and did I know where he could find him. I told him his best bet was to make a round of the night joints."

Seeds, Tools Assured Victory Gardeners

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
AP Features Writer

Victory gardeners have a generous supply of seeds awaiting them at the start of the 1944 growing season and adequate quantities of tools, fertilizers and insecticides.

That is the word from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the nation's seedsmen and supply houses.

"But gardeners should order their seed early because of the seed shortage and transportation problems," the department says in a message to victory gardeners.

Seeds from the start of war built up American sources for seeds normally imported from countries later overrun by the Nazis. That explains why there have been no more serious shortages than were reported last summer.

As always, a few varieties of seeds will be scarce but, as always, there will be available similar varieties as good, and in some instances, better," says Harry H. Morse seed company of Detroit.

A similar statement came from David Burpee of the W. Atlee Burpee seed company of Philadelphia.

"There is enough seed for all victory gardens if gardeners will accept another similar variety when the type they order is not obtainable."

"The present demand is 50 per cent greater than a year ago and we suggest that gardeners order their seeds as early as possible."

The War Production board, convinced of the importance of victory gardens, is doing everything possible to assure adequate supplies of tools, rakes, spades and spading forks for 1944. Supplies of sprayers and dusters also will be more liberal.

"Insecticides and fungicides should be at least as plentiful as last year," the department reports.

The nitrate situation improved this spring and the nitrogen content of victory garden fertilizer is back to the pre-war standard: 5-10-5 mix for the east and south, the midwest will get a 4-12-4 mix and the far west a 6-10-4 combination.

Former Fireman Rides To Fires On Furlough

NEW YORK—Something new has been added to the list of metropolitan attractions for servicemen on furlough.

Pvt. Norman Dilson, former New York city fireman who resigned to have himself drafted, spent the first night home on furlough from his Alabama camp visiting the boys in the fire house. They were hardly through the first round of coffee when the bells clanged. Off they went, firemen and soldier. Three more alarms sent them careening through the streets of Brooklyn.

"Sweet ride I ever had," said the fireman on his busman's holiday.

U.S. Army's Mountain Doctors Practice In Rugged Outdoors

BY ROBERT E. GEIGER
AP Features Writer

CAMP HALE, Colo. — Imagine your family doctor as a rugged mountain man in Arctic parka and on skis!

If he is young, has a sound constitution and is a good physician or surgeon that may be exactly where he is today.

At Camp Hale, near snow covered peaks of the Rocky mountains from whose blizzards even hardy mountain trappers shied, fighting men are taught to battle under Alpine conditions. Mountain medical men are trained to go right beside them.

Go Where He Goes

"If you are going to care for a mountain soldier you have to be able to go where the soldier goes," says Lt. Col. H. L. Berman, formerly of Peoria, Ill., the division surgeon.

So the Army cast an eye over America's baby specialists, the general village practitioners, the skin specialists and the more experienced hospital interns as well as the famous physicians and surgeons. The hardy ones were brought together in a medical outfit capable of going where the outfit is most difficult.

These men have been trained in all the tricks of mountain climbing and Indian lore. They can ski. They have lived for days in sleeping bags or ice houses on winter maneuvers in the Colorado Rockies with five feet of snow on the ground and the thermometer at 40 below.

They Practice Cold

Under such conditions blood plasma freezes in two minutes; a surgeon's hands, if ungloved, become numb instantly. They learn to overcome these things.

Maj. Ward I. Gregg, gentle, slender surgeon from Cambridge, Mass., took his skis one day and fought his way through snow and sub-zero cold to Dillon, 40 miles away and over the Continental divide at 11,900 feet. Just for the fun of it!

That's the kind of a medical outfit the Army is training to care for its wounded men.

"We have borrowed ideas from the American Indian, the Eskimo and rescue techniques tried out in World War I in the Alps," says Col. Berman. "All these and others have been incorporated in our training."

"The old Indian made his squaw drag the household belongings on a travois (a pole framework) behind a horse. We employ this method of carrying a litter under certain conditions, but use sure-footed mules."

"We also rig a ski soldier's skis into a toboggan to make a sled litter. There are many ways of getting a wounded man safely from a mountain battlefield hemmed in by blizzards, cold and high cliffs."

Hard Way The Best

In this age of the airplane it would seem simple to land on the top of a mountain to rescue wounded men.

However, the airplane and helicopter haven't proved, at this date, as satisfactory or sure as mules and men for this work.

"Our feet and ropes are our big stock in trade," says Col. Berman. "A mountain soldier wants lots of rope. If you give a mountain medical man just a little rope he'll hang himself; but give him plenty and he'll be happy."

In mountain medicine a doctor has to do the most with the least. Mountain battlefields are isolated

Lutheran Merger Is Meeting Topic

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, March 22.—The National Lutheran council today considered adoption of a constitution designed to bring together branches of that church in the United States and Canada.

Dr. Edward W. Schramm of Columbus, editor of the Lutheran Standard, said leaders of the denomination believe one provision of the constitution will encourage the Lutheran synod of Missouri to enter the council.

This provision would permit any Lutheran group to become a member of the council by expressing a desire to join and by adopting the constitution once it is approved by the council. Members could participate in any or all council functions.

The Missouri synod represents one third of the church's membership, he said.

The constitution also would set up and recognize many departments to carry on the group's expanding functions.

Attending the conference are representatives of the eight groups. They are the United Lutheran church, American Lutheran church, Norwegian Lutheran church, Augustana Lutheran church, United Danish church, Lutheran Free church, Danish church and Suomi (Finnish) synod.

PROGRESS AT CASSINO SLOW

Germans Offer Bitter Opposition In Fifth Day of Attack

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 22—New Zealand troops of the Fifth army, slugging it out with the enemy in "savage hand-to-hand fighting," are making slow but steady progress in the southern section of Cassino, Allied headquarters announced today.

Fighting equally as bloody raged in the hills to the west from which an estimated 30 pieces of German artillery and many mortars continued to rain shells into the ruined town.

"Our efforts to clear the town of Cassino and occupy the eastern slopes of dominating Monte Cassino are being pushed against bitter enemy opposition and terrain difficulties today and Tuesday," a headquarters commentator said.

Allied troops holding one point on the Monte Cassino slopes were only 400 to 700 yards from two strong German artillery points just west of the town, making it difficult for Allied gunners to neutralize the enemy fire without endangering their own men.

German defense forces in Cassino were reinforced Monday by young Nazi parachute troops and units of an armored grenadier division.

238 Prisoners Taken

An official announcement said that additional German prisoners have been taken, increasing to 238 the total captured since the battle began a week ago.

On the Monte Cassino slopes, British troops made a determined attack on two German points last night and were making good progress until they ran into a minefield. The Germans, meanwhile, starting infiltrating down the gully toward the British-held hill, forcing the attackers to return to their base.

The Anzio beachhead sector was mostly quiet except for heavy German artillery fire near Padiglione. On the Adriatic side of the battle line, patrol clashes occurred, especially in the Orsogna region. Allied artillery scored direct hits on German-held houses near Tollo and mortars fired into moving German troops near Arielli.

The total for each of the townships for the year follows.

Charge Farm Girl With Two Murders

MERCER, Pa., March 22—Blonde, 20-year-old Janice Graham, farm girl, was arrested today charged with the shotgun murders of Mrs. Katherine Hogan Wilson, 76, and Robert McKay, 70, last Oct. 7 at the Everett Wilson dairy farm near Mercer.

She was arrested at the home of her parents in Findley township and placed in Mercer jail to await a hearing.

District Attorney Edwin C. Moon ordered the arrest after he moved yesterday to bring a sudden and dramatic end to the girl's trial as an accessory after the fact of the murders.

"The commonwealth is determined to find out who committed these murders," said Moon, referring to the slayings now charged to Miss Graham, but which were left unsolved when a jury last December acquitted William A. Morrell, 20.

WFA DAIRY FEES APPEAR DOOMED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22 — A government dairy program which has been criticized as "taxation without representation" will be eliminated under terms of a bill due for consideration in the house today.

A one-paragraph provision in the agriculture appropriations measure would ban continuance of War Food administration (WFA) assessments against dairymen in 1939 areas throughout the country.

WFA officials said the levy, which ranges from one and a half to three cents a hundredweight of milk handled, has been ordered to pay local administrative costs of a milk allocation program set up to forestall rationing of the product.

Chairman Tarver (D-Ga.) of the agriculture appropriations subcommittee drafted the legislation after Georgia dairymen refused to pay the assessment on grounds it was illegal.

Ohio dairymen also have opposed it and have started a court fight in Cleveland to have the order suspended.

WFA officials contended the assessment, which they said was made only on milk handlers and distributed to local employees administering the milk allocation program, is legal under the War Powers act.

Hear Charges That Farmers Are Driven To Federal Programs

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22—Two separate house probes were projected today into charges that farmers are being coerced into signing up for federal agricultural programs under threat of military induction and deprivation of gasoline rations and farm machinery.

The charges were made by Representatives Ripley (R-Okla.) and Harness (R-Ind.). Harness, a member of the house military draft deferment subcommittee said the bringing of any such pressure on farmers was "reprehensible."

Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the military committee said he would instruct the draft deferment subcommittee to begin a study of the matter immediately.

And, as war industries faced loss of many of their currently deferred workers under a new draft policy, President Roosevelt indicated there would be some special consideration for the more highly-trained.

Although the chief executive made no specific promises, he said he was studying the whole situation with regard to drafting of young men in industry.

In his charge of pressure on farmers, Harness displayed a copy of a notice sent to a draft-age farmer in his district by the Grant county (Indiana) local board No. 2. It directed the registrant to report to his agriculture war board within five days and added: "After you have signed up at your township A.A. Meeting."

"It is very important," he notice continued, that a certified copy of 1944 production be maintained "as directed since in its absence you may be placed in Class 1-A and held for military service."

Harness, who said the sending of the notices by the local board has been stopped, also made public a letter sent out by the Jay county (Indiana) agricultural conservation committee requesting farmers to submit their 1944 farming plans and stating that information "required by the Selective Service board in making farm deferments will be secured from this source."

They're Still Fighting Irish Although Country's At Peace

AP Features

LONDON—Ask almost any Irishman you meet in Britain if he wants Eire to enter the war—and the answer will be a positive "No." Irishmen are probably more united behind Eire's policy of neutrality than they have ever seen before. Although precise figures are not available, many people estimate that Eire produces four or five times as many volunteers for the British forces as Northern Ireland, which as part of the British Commonwealth is actually at war.

One test by which Eire's contribution by individuals may be judged is in the number of Victoria Crosses awarded in this war. When the mother of Dick Kelliher received news in Ballybeggan, County Kerry, that her sixth son had won that most coveted award in New Guinea, she was told he was the seventh man of Eire to win the V.C. this war. Of the dominions only Australia has won more—12.

Motives Often Mixed

The exploits of these heroes are so moving that they cannot be passed off as examples of Irishmen spoiling always for a fight. The old gag—"Is this a private fight or can I join in?" won't quite cover the motives of these volunteers. Motives are often mixed, but Britain will remember the record of Irishmen in this war, as they do the 49,300 killed in World War I, who are commemorated in Dublin.

The first Victoria Cross awarded to a member of the R.A.F. in this war was to an Irishman—Flying Officer Donald E. Garland, born at Ballinacree, Co. Wicklow.

In June, 1940, he piloted the leading aircraft in a formation attacking a bridge over the Albert Canal on which the Germans were advancing into Belgium. All the crews had volunteered for this low-altitude job, and only one returned safely.

Naval Heroes

Maj. Harold M. Ervine-Andrews, born in county Wexford, won one of the first two Army V.C.'s in July, 1940, at Dunkirk. Capt. J. B. Jackson, from Dun Laoghaire, Co. Dublin, was awarded the V.C. in November, 1941, at Ed Dunda.

Army Center Gives AWOL Chance to Rejoin Outfits

(By United Press)

CAMP EDWARDS, Mass. — The Army is giving runaway soldiers a chance to make amends—without leaving a blot on their service records—at one of its two processing centers—the East Coast processing center at Camp Edwards.

The center is composed of a stockade and training area for AWOL problem soldiers who attempted to run away from impending danger. As the director, Lt. Col. George A. Palmer, puts it, the function of the center is to restore to duty those men physically and otherwise fit for duty who are absent without authority from Army units destined for overseas.

Some men, found to be down-right misfits, are returned to civilian life, but the majority are remade into good fighting men and shipped overseas to join their units and face the call of duty.

As Chaplain Went On Trial On Mann Act Charges

Charlie Chaplin, the world-famous comic of silent screen days, goes on trial in Los Angeles on charges he violated the "white slave" Mann act by transporting his former protegee, Joan Barry, to New York for immoral purposes. Chaplin is shown with his attorney, Jerry Giesler, in one photo. Miss Barry is shown in the other as she visited the federal building. She did not appear in the courtroom.

Says High Schools Turn Out Unprepared Students

CHICAGO, March 22.—Dr. Herman James, former president of Ohio university at Athens, believes more than 40 per cent of the students who enter college "have no intelligent notion of what they want to do."

He told the conference of university administrators on general and liberal education yesterday that the product of high schools is not "on a high cultural level."

James asserted high school requirements throughout the mid-west were "extremely unsatisfactory" and "anyone who wants a high school diploma can get it." Because of this, he declared, students come to college highly unprepared.

Jurors Seated To Try Comedian On Mann Act Charge

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—The Charlie Chaplin trial entered its second day today with strong indications the first government witness would be placed on the stand before the end of the afternoon session.

Attorney Jerry Giesler, defending the white-haired movie actor on charges of Mann act violation, is equipped with 10 peremptory challenges to fire at the prospective jury, which, at the close of yesterday's session, numbered seven men and five women.

Red-haired Charles H. Carr, the prosecutor, would not state whether he would employ any of the six peremptories which the law allows him, but did say he expected to call his first witness this afternoon.

Giesler and Carr told Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor the questions they would like to have put to the prospective jurors, and then the judge took over the interrogation.

Did they know of any attorneys involved in the Chaplin civil and criminal cases? Had they formed any opinion of the merits of the case through reading the newspapers or otherwise? Would they be prejudiced for or against the actor by the fact that he's a British subject? Were they acquainted with red-haired Joan Barry, 24, whom Chaplin is alleged to have transported to New York for immoral purposes?

Two jurors were excused when they said Chaplin's British citizenship might influence them. A third was ruled out because she worked for a government agency.

The two courts in the Mann act indictment against Chaplin allege Miss Barry was transported to New York in October, 1932, and back to Hollywood, for immoral purposes. Pending is a civil suit in which Miss Barry seeks to have Chaplin declared the father of her daughter, Carol Ann, five months old.

Mrs. Logan Williams of the Albany rd. and her father, Claude Smith of Cincinnati, who have been separated for 25 years, were reunited here this week through their brother and son, Richard, of Los Angeles.

The family was separated 25 years ago in Dayton, when Mrs. Williams, then two years old, was placed in a child care home for a time. Adopted by a Salem woman who lived in Dayton at that time, Mrs. Williams was brought here a number of years ago. Information about her original family was withheld from her until she was grown.

Through the years, when family connections were lost through change in address, the father and daughter have been trying to locate each other. On a visit some time ago with the son in Los Angeles, the father learned the name and address of Mrs. Williams and came east to locate her.

1500 Bus Employees Idle As Peace Talks Continue

(By Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, March 22.—The number of drivers and other bus employees on strike in the eastern and southern states swelled to nearly 1,500 today.

Among them were 200 workers of the Boston and Maine Transportation Co., serving a dozen New England lines, who walked out last midnight.

Still unsettled but in progress of negotiations were strikes of 600 Pennsylvania Greyhound lines employees serving east-west points between New York and Chicago, and 675 employees of the Teche-Greyhound lines in five southeastern states.

The three work stoppages were unrelated.

426 Die From Coal Gas In Italian Train Tunnel

NAPLES, March 22.—A total of 426 Italians died from coal gas asphyxiation when a train stalled in a tunnel in southern Italy March 3, it was announced today.

Allied military investigators found the accident "an act of God" caused by a combination of murky atmosphere with no wind to ventilate the tunnel and wet rails which caused the train to stall.

Carbon monoxide gas overcame the engine crew before they could start the train and the scores of unauthorized passengers who had climbed aboard the train were asphyxiated swiftly.

HULL'S POLICY

tighten restrictions on pro-Axis Spain and pro-Allied Turkey and on neutral Ireland?

Several of the secretary's 17 points were considered pertinent to current problems even though in the main he was concerned with clarifying American policy for the postwar period.

Other points known to be applicable to current situations include a statement that each nation "should be free to decide for itself the forms and detail of its governmental organization."

On the long range questions of international organization, the secretary called for creation of an international agency backed by adequate force to maintain peace, the settlement of dangerous political differences by negotiation, the organization of an international court to solve legal disputes, and the reduction of armaments so far as they may be reduced without endangering the force necessary to maintain peace.

LONERGAN'S SECOND TRIAL IS OPENED

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 22.—An all-male jury empowered to decree the death penalty was ready today for the opening thrusts and counter-thrusts in Wayne Lonergan's trial for life.

In keeping with the trial's fast-moving tempo, Assistant District Attorney Jacob Crumet said his opening remarks would be brief.

Edward V. Broderick, chief defense counsel, indicated he might postpone his statements until after the state's case has been submitted.

Crumet already has been forced by the defense to disclose he will attempt to use the Canadian airman's confession in an effort to prove he strangled and bludgeoned his rich young wife to death in her apartment last Oct. 24.

However, the prosecutor admitted during the jury selection yesterday that Lonergan did not sign the statement.

Both Broderick and the prosecution expressed elation over the quick selection of the jury, completed in two days in contrast with the protracted first attempt to try the 26-year-old defendant.

Nazis May Make Rome Open City

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 22.—The German-controlled Rome radio today announced that the Germans would withdraw all military installations from Rome and would divert all military traffic from the city, in an effort to place responsibility for bombings entirely on the Allies.

The broadcast apparently sought to declare Rome an open city. Such a unilateral declaration, of course, has no effect in International law, since it would have to be accepted by the Allies to make it binding.

The Badoglio government of Italy sought to declare Rome an open city before Badoglio capitulated last September.

The broadcast said: "So that responsibility for the bombing of Rome will remain entirely with the Allies, the German command in the next few days will scrupulously withdraw from Rome every installation which could serve as the slightest pretext for air terror, and still further deviate military transports from the Eternal City."

London warplanes subjected London to a sharp attack last night, causing casualties and damage in a number of sections in the heaviest assault upon the city since the fire raid of March 17.

The planes struck in three waves and were greeted by a thunderous barrage which reared a new window-rattling peak in some areas.

British night fighters and the heavy barrage apparently forced many of the attackers to jettison their bombs haphazardly in the London suburbs, but many nevertheless fell in the city.

Rescue workers still were digging for victims in the ruins of smashed homes at midday.

The Nazis used a pathfinder technique, the first planes over the city dropping scores of flares to light up the target.

The barrage continued at its peak for about a half-hour before gradually subsiding.

Dairy Food Rationing, Butter Release Studied

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Senators studying the future of rationing and price control posed two major questions today for War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, a witness at hearings on extending OPA another year:

1. Are milk or other products to be added to the ration list?

2. Should not butter be separated from meat rationing, with butter becoming ration free?

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said at yesterday's hearing he had been advised that 120,000,000 pounds of butter were in storage in January, eight times the amount a year ago, and asked about the prospects of moving butter off the lists.

Colonel Houston replied that if the War Food administration indicated a surplus is available "we will delete it from rationing temporarily if necessary."

The Balkan crisis is in a state of flux. Beyond the fact that Hitler has occupied Hungary with troops, reports are confused.

There are indications that some Hungarians are trying to revolt against the Nazi gangster. It's possible that further Russian successes may inspire other resistance to Hitler in the Balkans, since there's small love for Germany on the peninsula.

So far as regards Hungary, while it is highly independent, there are considerable elements there which will support Hitler. When I was in Budapest just after Munich I witnessed what then was a strange sight—a parade of men belonging to a new political order. The police watched them carefully, but I saw paraders surreptitiously giving one another the Nazi salute.

U. S. BOMBERS HEAD FOR GERMANY AGAIN

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 22.—Western Germany was shaken for the 12th straight night by bombs from the RAF's marauding Mosquitos. In night and this morning German radio stations started going off the air again—generally a tip-off that Allied raiders are over the continent.

The RAF's overnight operations, which included laying of mines in enemy waters, were carried out without the loss of a single plane, the Air Ministry said.

This morning the German radio declared Allied heavy bombers, presumably USAAF Fortresses and Liberators, had roared into north-west Germany.

English coastal observers reported several contingents of medium bombers—thundering toward the cliffs of France, which were visible in clear weather.
